

Gift Dlamini, umLangeni wakaNtunja is KI's Social Strengthening Projects Manager (SSPM) who contributes to the success of all social strengthening projects. Gift has an undeniable passion for the youth and community development, having worked for local NGO's for the past 6 years and with KI since 2019. He has lead projects that have mentored over 3 000 youths, which is what has he says has kept him in this space for so long, to see young people progress and communities developing. Gift has a variety of interest which range from farming, travelling and socializing. His personal mantra is "if you don't stick to your values when they are being tested, they are not values they are hobbies." - Jon Stewart